

The SELPA3 Community Advisory Committee Presents:

Social Thinking

Many parents have heard of Social Thinking, a term coined more than 15 years ago by Michelle Garcia Winner to describe her treatment approach for individuals on the autism spectrum who struggle with the nuances of social communication and interaction. Although Social Thinking has been expanded and refined by many other therapists over the years, not all parents are familiar with the approach and have questions such as: What does Social Thinking teach? How could my child benefit, and how quickly? Where could Social Thinking be applied in a school setting? Where can I find out more about Social Thinking techniques? These and other questions will be answered by our speaker, who will present and then answer audience questions:
